Partney To Seek New Term As Mayor

Granite City Mayor Donald Partney announced Friday that he will be a candidate for reelection in the 1969 municipal balloting.

The announcement came only a short time after City Clerk Homer Pendleton set the filing dates for a mayoralty primary election for Dec. 23 to Jan. 7, and a deadline for withdrawals on Jan. 11.

The primary election, if one is required under new state election law amendments, will be held on Feb. 11.

Partney, who had withheld comment on his 1969 election plans, said only briefly that he has decided to become a candidate. The city has made much progress in the past 3½ years, and I want to see it progress even more.

His candidacy is expected to eliminate from the coming mayoralty campaign the plans of Alderman Paul Rutledge, formerly of the Fourth Ward to seek the mayor's office.

Rutledge, a close associate of Mayor Partney in city council issues, announced a month ago that he would be a candidate for mayor in the event that Partney did not seek reelection. Partney obtained his petitions for candidacy from the city clerk's office Friday afternoon.

Raymond Willard, former Granite City police chief, was elected to the Granite City division of the sheriff's office, obtained petition forms from the city clerk's office this morning as a candidate for mayor.

Those drafted were Guy Henry McWhorter, Richard Crum, Clarence Elwood Barr Jr., Richard McKinney, Roger Dale Clements and David Lee Grum.

The transfer draft was made by the city clerk, James H. Hadley.

In addition, eight other local youths reported for pre-industry physical examinations. The local Red Cross chapter served coffee and rolls to the youths.

The activity raised the November contingent, 138 Quad-Cityans have been drafted this year, compared to 83 during the same 11-month period in 1967.

MORE ABOUT Strike Ends

The blast furnace to be in operation by the latter part of this week. It will then be possible for the company to start up its steelmaking furnaces and other departments which have been shut down, a spokesman reported.

Frank Ronco, Collinsville, business representative, and Cecil E. Phelps, president of Chemical Workers Local 50, said members of the union voted 3-1 to accept the company proposal during two meetings held in the Labor Temple at 9 a.m. and at 8 p.m.

Incentive Pay Involved: Settlement of the labor dispute was reported based primarily on the basic steel package formula applied to most steelworker contract settlements throughout this area and the nation, but also was said by reliable sources to include a company agreement to initiate a study of incentive pay schedules for the chemical workers plant construction workers were union with a view toward application of the incentive plan to union members. Chemical workers have not worked under an incentive pay plan in recent years.

The contract offer accepted by the union vote Friday was submitted to the union a week earlier in mediation sessions in St. Louis. Last Monday union leaders met again with the company to go over details of the contract offer. That session ended with announcement that the company offer would be put to a vote of the membership by secret ballot.

The chemical workers sought a substantial wage increase over and above the 20-12-12-cent increase given steelworkers in the basic steel package, maintaining that their wage scale in all classifications were nearly $1 an hour behind the steelworkers scale because of the loss several years ago of agreements providing cost-of-living increases.

Although the Chemical Workers Union maintained picket lines throughout the strike, the chemical workers plant construction workers were permitted to enter to rebuild one of the company's two blast furnaces that prematurely failed a few weeks before the strike began. The plant's other furnace previously had been shut down for rebuilding.

Furnace Repair Completed: The premature breakdown of the second furnace resulted in some layoffs prior to the strike. The furnace repairs were completed about three weeks ago. Work has been started on relining of the other furnace.

Granite City Steel remained in operation at the mill at a reduced level by buying slab steel on the open market for enough production to fill customers' orders.

Continued negotiations also are under way in a third major strike involving 700 steelworkers at the Madison plant of Dow Chemical Co. That strike began Aug. 31 and went into its 86th day today.

Representatives of the union, USWA Local 4804, and Dow officials met three days last week, including Friday, and will resume at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Offices in St. Louis.

Neither the strike at General Steel Industries nor at Dow Chemical involve wages as a major issue. The strike at Dow involves a dispute over seniority and job security provisions, while that at GST involves seniority issues and overtime assignments.

No meetings have been scheduled in a strike of 60 machinists, members of International Association of Machinists District 8, at American Steel Foundries. That strike began Oct. 23 after the company completed a new three-year agreement with its 700 United Steelworkers. The machinists strike involves a wage dispute.

County EOC Drops 26 Commissioners
To comply with the 1968 amendment to the Economic Opportunity Act, 26 members of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission were stricken from membership rolls last week to permit reorganization of the county.

The county agency's governing board, according to Victor Darnell, assistant EOC director. Dismissed from the Commission were several Quad-Cities, including a former vice-president of the organization.

Darnell said that "roughly eight to ten" of those removed from the Commission had previously resigned for various reasons, after being notified by letter that regular attendance at meetings was required for membership to continue.

"In accordance with the by-laws, a commissioner must attend at least three meetings within a six-month period to remain in good standing on the membership rolls," Darnell explained. He said that by-laws have been under revision since they were adopted by the Great Lakes Regional EOC Office to coordinate its regulatory practices with the changes in the federal EOC statute.

Failure to meet the attendance requirement accounted for the major reason that members were dismissed, Darnell explained. He said that pressure of business and prior commitments were offered by several as explanation for lack of attendance.

The Commission had been meeting Monday evenings at the courthouse in Edwardsville and two months ago the monthly meetings were rescheduled to Wednesdays. In some instances, the changes in nights created conflicts, Darnell said.

Those from this area eliminated include Harold Thomas, representing Coordinated Youth Services; William F. Hoelscher, manager of the Manufacturers' Association of the Tri-Cities; Charles Hampton, representing the city of Venice; and Fitzgerald, representing the Madison County Mental Health; J. Alan Gardner, representing the poor in Madison; Hugh Hairston, NAACP of Venice, former Commission vice-president; Sarah King, representative of the poor in Madison; Harold Fisk of Madison school system; Albert Miles, representative of the poor, Madison; Mrs. Corrine Silas, representative of the poor, Venice; Mrs. Madeline Jones, representative of the poor, Eagle Park Acres.

Odessa Bridges, representative of the poor, Madison; Corneilus Williams and Harvey Riley, representing the poor, Madison; Robert Madison, AFL-CIO Community Service representative from Granite City, who resigned for health reasons; Mrs. Leocadia Weston and Thomas Weston, both of Madison, who have left the county; and Catherine Holt, representative of the poor, Granite City, who resigned for personal reasons.

The agency's constitution originally called for 100 members, to represent various political subdivisions, plus health, welfare, educational agencies and persons from impoverished areas.

The 1968 amendment provides for no more than 51 members, with one-third representing political subdivisions (appointed or elected officials); one-third representative of the poor; and one-third from resource agencies.

Darnell said that several of those dismissed from the Commission failed to reply to letters mailed sometime ago, which reviewed the new regulations and sought their cooperation in attending regular meetings.

Currently 21 persons remain on the county commission, with new members to be added during a recruitment drive now under way. We may operate for awhile with 30 commissioners," Darnell stated. "As long as we have the appropriate representation, one-third from each group, we are not required to maintain a 51-member body," he added.

The dismissals were carried out last week with Robert Gwin, county EOC first vice-president and a member of the constitution and by-laws committee, presiding.

Mrs. Fern Hornberger of Granite City, EOC president, was present, but relinquished the chair to permit Gwin to explain the by-laws and dismissal procedures.

Darnell stressed that all Commission meetings are open to the public and urged anyone interested to attend. They are held each third Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m., in the basement of the courthouse in Edwardsville.

Police Officer Files $15,000 Drem Shop Suit

A dram shop suit for $15,000 was filed last week for Granite City patrolman Louis Mank against Robert R. and Lila Wildrick, doing business as the Club Boundary, last week in Madison county circuit court at Edwardsville.

According to the complaint, on Oct. 30, the tavern served liquor to Leon Taylor, 1408 State street, who became intoxicated. At 6:10 p.m., Mank, who was on duty, answered a disturbance call at Taylor's home. It alleges that Taylor became abusive and beat the officer, causing injuries.

BACK NIXON IN TRYING TO GET VIETNAM PEACE

To the Editor: "Nixon Picks Hardline on War" was a headline Nov. 17 on how and why Mr. Nixon picked Robert Murphy to be his liaison man between himself and the State Department.

Murphy's "hardline" on war prompted a former State Department colleague to refer to him as the "Curtis Lemay of the diplomatic staff."

According to the story, Murphy was opposed to President Eisenhower's ending of the Korean War in the way that he did and "advocated the use of nuclear weapons to drive the Chinese out of Korea."

No doubt it was because of his "hardline" that Nixon chose him for his present job, for it is somewhat reminiscent of his own hardline during the campaign, when he was criticizing President Johnson because he did not use all the means at his disposal to win the war.

It seems that "anti-war" sentiment was never a factor in the Republican campaign, and there were never any anti-war demonstrations at his rallies. But in the Democratic camp, everything was different.

In the beginning of the Democratic primaries, there were only two avowed candidates for the nomination and the two were avowed doves who lambasted President Johnson for not "negotiating" with North Vietnam and bringing the Vietnam war to an end.

In their criticism of President Johnson, they were aided and abetted by a St. Louis newspaper editorially and by giving space in their letters column to every armchair strategist to denounce him in the most violent terms.

In those early days of the campaign, I wrote a letter to the Press-Record, which the editor captioned, "Doves May Elongate Hawks."

In this letter I stressed the fact that by the criticism of the President for not ending the Vietnam war and not putting into effect all the provisions of the Kerner report, they might so divide and weaken the Democratic party that they might insure the election of a "hawk" meaning Richard Nixon.

The reader may judge whether or not my predictions were correct.

No doubt it was because of the criticism by these doves, particularly by Senator Eugene McCarthy, and the frenzy of anti-war sentiment which their criticisms engendered that President Johnson was led to the decision not to be a candidate in the 1968 election, and to try to win the peace with Hanoi during the remainder of his term in office.

No doubt it was their dovish

Mobile Homes Here to Stay But Should Be Separate from Houses

Proliferation of house trailers throughout the residential area of a community remains unsound despite the apparent majority desire here, as reflected in an 11-4 Granite City aldermanic vote, to ease the regulations.

The new city law requires those planning to place a trailer on a lot to obtain the permission of 70% of the property owners within a radius of 300 feet, about six lots in each direction.

Condemnation of the action should be tempered to an extent by the fact that national home mortgage policies and trends, and their impact on the availability of residences, have made it difficult for many families to afford a permanent structure. Also, rigid city codes on building techniques have helped boost home costs.

That the problem is not unique to this area is indicated by a recent report that a fourth of all new U.S. dwellings are mobile homes. Presumably due to their comparatively low price tag, they have won the favor of a big fraction of the public. But we hope that here and elsewhere more progress can be made in providing entire areas for mobile home parks, so that the still desirable concept of compatible land usage can be retained.

State's Attorney Staff Expansion

Plans to expand the staff of assistant state's attorneys from six to 11 will be a step forward if the move succeeds in implementing and enhancing operations of the office, which include prosecution of misdemeanors and provision of legal counsel for Madison county governmental actions. More specialization probably will be possible.

Elimination of certain other budgeted expenses and reduction of the average yearly salary from $10,000 to $6,000 have made the expansion possible without altering the total appropriation for the office.

When other county spending permits, a boost in the annual budget for the state's attorney's office also should be considered, due to the impact of monetary inflation in recent years. Unless it can compete with the profits from private law practice, it will be unable to attract competent attorneys.

New Honors for Joshua Johnson

The latest of many honors accorded Joshua Johnson, former Madisonian, is his appointment by Ray Page, Illinois superintendent of public instruction, as director of the Department of Equal Educational Opportunity. His many friends here wish the school administrator well in his new and challenging duties.

Due to Population, Repeat of 1811 Earthquake Would Be a Catastrophe

By DR. EMIL J. MATEKER

Washington University Earth Sciences Associate Professor

(Second of Two Articles)

The New Madrid, Mo., earthquake sequence began without warning during the early morning hours of Dec. 18, 1811.

The number of shocks, the continuity of the disturbance, the area affected, and the severity of the sequence surpass any recorded earthquake in the history of the North American continent. Fortunately, the region was sparsely populated at the time.

New Madrid consisted of 200 families and Little Prairie (now known as Caruthersville) numbered about 100 families. The cause of the quake was largely wilderness, relatively little attention was paid to the earthquake.

The people of New Madrid were awakened at 2 a.m. by the groaning, creaking, cracking of the timbers of their homes and cabins, by the wild movement of furniture, and by the crashing of chimneys.

They rushed to the streets and were unable to return to their homes throughout the rest of the night and most of the next day because of repeated shocks.

Soon after daylight, another shock fully as severe as the first, but preceded by a low rumbling noise, rocked the region.

The people observed that the ground rose and fell much like the long low swell of the sea.

Landslides were felt down steep bluffs. Some areas were uplifted and others sank and the level of the water rising from fissures in the ground.

The Mississippi also was significantly affected, as great waves were created.

State Senate Filled for January Session

Should Be Seated for January Session

The 53rd State Senatorial District, with perhaps 200,000 residents and a large taxpaying equity in state government, ought to insist on representation as early as possible after its senatorial post is vacated by the Illinois lieutenant-governor-elect Paul Simon.

Current plans, although they are being challenged by an injunction suit, call for primary and general voting to take place March 11 and April 29. But the regular six-month session will begin in January. State officials, legislators and party officials should do all in their power to find a way to fill the position sooner than the end of April.

Many decisions, affecting state revenue and other vital issues, are due to be made during the next legislative session. The best way that the interests of this area can be given appropriate consideration and weight is for it to be represented in the Senate as well as the House.

Best Kind of Problems — Those Which Result from Progress

Complicated by the weather and the timing of various projects, impossible and hazardous streets have become so numerous in Granite City this fall that 1968 probably will be long remembered as a year of mud and inconvenience.

We agree with council members that prompt remedies should be sought.

An additional thought is that, if a municipality has to have problems, these are the best and fewest sets of problems to replace the more serious kind of problems in a few other categories.

Now, if the public could just get action and a new set of problems to replace the more serious kind of problems in a few other categories.

31 Years of Service by Venice

Crippled Children's Organization

Schedule of the annual benefit ball of the Venice Crippled Children's Organization for Jan. 25 calls attention to the organization's 31-year record of timely aid to local youngsters and adults crippled by illness or accident.

It will be a festive event brightened by the knowledge that participation by those who like to dance will help assure an opportunity for others to walk.

Support the Tree of Lights

And United Fund Campaigns

Perennially, a drive that meets with a warm local response is the Salvation Army "Tree of Lights" campaign, launched Saturday to raise $6000 for holiday food baskets, clothing and toys for local families. We hope this year is no exception, because the need exists and may be even more acute than in any recent years.

At the same time, continued attention will need to be given the United Fund. Normally completed before the Christmas-oriented drive is launched, the UF campaign is still in progress and for a good reason: it has not yet raised all the funds that are necessary.

The same factors that have slowed the pace of United Fund contributions make essential the original objective be achieved. Failure of UF programs and services would be far costlier in every sense of the word.

Despite economic problems, local individuals, families, employee groups and firms are more than capable of giving and pledging enough to reach 100% of the goal. If they determine to do just that, they will succeed.

BRIDGING THE COMMUNICATIONS GAP

By U. S. SENATOR CHARLES H. PERCY of Illinois

My office receives and writes 20,000 letters a month, and from persons in Illinois.

I made it a policy on my first day in office that no letter would go unanswered—and, to the best of my ability, none has, including the 100,000 letters we received on gun controls alone this summer.

There are a half-dozen telephone lines into my office, and often every line is busy. My two receptionists have estimated that they receive 200 calls a day—many of these from persons calling in from Illinois.

In order to have as efficient and economical communications as possible, I have used my telephone allowance from the Congress to install a WATS line under which an unlimited number of calls may be made to Illinois for one flat rate.

I share this WATS line with a senator from a neighboring state, and under this arrangement each office may use the line for 30 minutes every hour. The line has allowed my legislative staff and caseworkers to make quick responses to Illinois constituents when the occasion demands.

The constituent who wrote a letter to his editor proposed "public forum" type meetings as one way to bridge the "communications gap" between elected representatives and their constituents. This idea has merit, and I wrote him that I may soon implement this, too.

But already we are doing many, many things to meet this constituent's admirable goal of permitting "concerned citizens" to hear and question their congressional representatives on important issues."

Nearly always on my trips to Illinois I have spoken to newsmen, who have exercised the worthy right of putting questions to their elected representatives. To those the people might know. These questions have covered the gamut. As long as we have scrutinizing, high-quality newsmen, our republic will not be in danger.

Rapp and Miller Wedding Saturday at St. John Church

Miss Katherine Lucille Miller and Dennis E. Rapp exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony taking place Saturday evening at St. John United Church of Christ.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller, 1111 Greenwood street, Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rapp, Hillsboro road, Edwardsville.

The Rev. Paul Surbey officiated at the 7:30 ceremony in a setting of autumn flowers and candlelight. Candles illuminated the altar adorned with white blossoms and the aisle through which the procession passed.

The former Miss Miller wore a gown of white satin trimmed with lace. The long A-line skirt ended in a lengthy train. A shoulder length veil of tulle was held in place with a pearl headpiece, and the bride carried two dozen red roses with greenery.

The maid of honor, Miss Patricia Jackovich, and bridesmaid, Miss Rose Marczak, were dressed alike in blue velvet floor-length. They wore Empire style with a bow in the back. Their flowers were white carnations sprayed with blue, and white roses. Short veils matched the gowns.

Leonard Rapp was best man, and Ronald Jacobs, Konetta Johnson and Ronald Rapp, served as groomsmen and ushers.

A pale blue brocade dress and jacket with blue accessories was worn by the bride's mother. The bridegroom's mother chose a turquoise coat and dress ensemble with accessories of the same and red roses in her corsage.

The wedding reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall immediately after the service.

The newlyweds will make their home at 65a Deborah court

Costumed 2nd Graders Learn to Make Bread

By VALERIE EVENDEN

On a sunny window ledge atop a warm radiator at Webster school, fragrant scented bread was rising, and 31 pint-sized Pilgrims in bonnets, long skirts, bibs and round Quaker-style hats, plus one small-size Indian, munched contentedly on thick bread, homemade butter and a d strawberry preserves, meanwhile keeping an eye on the new batch of bread.

Admittedly full of turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, buttered green beans, cranberry sauce and ice cream, the 32 second grade pupils of Mrs. Janet Wilson, still waited impudently for teacher to slice the warm bread.

The children watched intently as Mrs. Wilson spread the heavy yellow butter, which the class had helped to make earlier that day, and heaped on the bread slices spoonfuls of thick strawberry preserves made the previous night by the young teacher and her grandmother.

A practical demonstration of things that occurred on the initial Thanksgiving Day celebration proved highly successful, according to Webster Principal Clyde Lee. The educator noted the seven-year-old pupils appeared to absorb more historical and traditional facts about the annual observance from the "see and do" project than would have been learned through more formal methods.

During the morning hours, Mrs. Wilson showed her 32 charges how to make bread, kneading the dough in a heavy ceramic bowl and placing it on top of the classroom radiator to rise, covered with a tea towel.

"Chum," Own Butter
She also had the youngsters

take turns beating cream into butter, a process they enjoyed seeing and doing. All were fascinated watching the cream curdle and thicken and most expressed amazement that "this was where butter came from."

One tiny girl confided in a low voice that they "shook" the cream to produce the butter. She quickly was corrected by a boy classmate, who commented with authority, "Oh no we didn't Carla, we beat it up with one of those whirly things."

The ankle-length printed skirts worn by the girls were brought from home and, by the fit of the waistline and the numerous pins in evidence, were obviously appropriated from mother's wardrobe.

The small boys wore paper-mache black Pilgrim hats, be decked with narrow white bands and large imitation buckles at the front, while the girls had paper poke bonnets, tied beneath the chin with colored wool and cord.

All wore large square white bibs, as the Pilgrims did long ago and decidedly handy on Thursday for catching the squeezy, succulent strawberry preserves which dripped from thick bread slices and down small chins.

Every action of Mrs. Wilson's was observed with interest. As the teacher sat down to slice the bread and distribute the pieces to the class, all heads turned expectantly and remained, for the most part that way, until each in turn was given his slice.

One little boy sat placidly waiting his turn, but confided anxiously to the reporter, "maybe there won't be any left when it gets to me." He was not disappointed.

Between mouthfuls, seven-year-old George Hubert inquired if the picture would be in the Press-Record that afternoon. Told unfortunately it was too late as the newspaper was being published at that moment, he suggested with a positive air, possibly acquired from watching television shows, "If you hurry up and leave, you could stop it and get our pictures in."

THICK BREAD SLICES, covered with homemade butter and strawberry preserves are avidly consumed by two Webster school second grade pupils who had earlier watched the butter and bread being made by their teacher, Mrs. Janet Wilson. In the background, Douglas Irvin fails to let the camera deter him from taking the next bite, while Wendell Walker (foreground), munches happily.

Just One Indian

Kevin Woodruff, the lone Indian among the Pilgrims, confessed to being uncertain why he was dressed that way. He appeared to enjoy the difference and to his satisfaction was not required to wear a bib as the other children.

The classroom was decorated with cutouts of Pilgrim figures, drawn and crayoned by the youngsters, whose activities Thursday were of definite interest to other pupils in the school.

As the reporter left, the second graders, some looking slightly bedraggled as their costumes had been worn since early morning, were preparing to visit other classrooms in the building, providing all could navigate after their hearty lunch and mid-afternoon snack.

Today's edition of Yule Mail Call contains the addresses in Vietnam of the son and son-in-law of a local couple; two salaried sons of another Granite City resident; and the name of an 11-year Army veteran, now serving in Vietnam, whose previous addresses have ranged from Greenland to Japan.

Individual residents and members of social, service, civic and church groups are invited to submit the names and addresses of Quad-City servicemen, whether serving overseas or in the U.S., to the pre-Christmas Yule Mail Call service. Those contributing the names of military personnel or a service couple are asked to write the details on a slip of paper or postal card and bring or mail the information to the Press-Record office, 1815 Delmar street.

To ensure delivery, the serviceman or woman's full name, rank, serial number, and address, including APO and FPO when applicable, should be included.

Readers are then asked to clip and retain the lists, adding the servicemen to their Christmas mailing lists. This is the third year the newspaper has sponsored the Yule Mail Call project.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hartzel, 2126 Woodlawn avenue, currently have serving in Vietnam their son, Specialist Five Gary Hartzel, of their son-in-law, Specialist Five Robert T. Ellis, whose wife the former Jane Hartzel, is temporarily residing with her parents.

A 1965 graduate of Granite City high school, Sp5 Hartzel, 21, is with the 58th Transportation Battalion in the far northern sector of Vietnam above Da Nang.

Prior to joining the Army in May 1966, the soldier was employed at McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Corp. He spent months in Germany arriving home on leave from there in February, and was assigned to Vietnam on April 1.

Specialist Five Ellis, an eight-year Army veteran, is with the Fourth Infantry Division at Pleiku in the Central Vietnamese Highlands. He arrived in Vietnam just two weeks ago.

The serviceman, his wife and their two children, Tracy, five years, and Jimmy, 11 months, returned home to the U.S. in March from Okinawa, where the family had spent 30 months.

Also included in today's Yule Mail Call are John Orr, 27, is on duty with River Squadron 57 in the Mekong Delta area near Vinh Long, south of Saigon. He has served in the Delta area since April and recently advised his mother that he has extended his duty time over-

Press-Record's . . . Yule Mail Call (Clip and Save)

Quad-City servicemen and women stationed around the world, whose names and addresses are being published on each issue of the Press-Record as a special pre-Christmas public service. It is suggested that readers clip-out and retain the lists as they appear.

Local residents are invited to include the servicemen on their Christmas mailing list and send greeting cards, letters or packages, thereby helping to brighten the coming holiday season for military personnel who are away from home and families. Early mailing is recommended.

Smith, Walters Favor Special Senate Election

Illinois House Speaker Ralph T. Smith and Charles R. Walters, Madison County Republican chairman, on Friday supported the decision by Gov. Shapiro to call special elections to fill the impending state senatorial vacancy here.

Their joint statement follows: "As spokesmen for the Republican party in the county of Madison and the 53rd State Senatorial District, we wish to make known our position regarding the special election which has been called by the governor to fill the seat which will soon be vacated by Lt. Governor-Elect Paul Simon.

We were contacted by Mr. (Dick H.) Mudge before he stated his position and filed his lawsuit. While our first inclination was to agree to oppose the special election, we now feel, on mature reflection, that it should proceed and we believe all thinking people will agree.

"On its face, the technicality that no vacancy now exists seems to have merit.

"However, we are informed that Senator Simon has submitted his resignation, and everyone knows there will be a senate vacancy before the election is held.

"Certainly, therefore, the governor has exceeded his judgment wisely, in the spirit of the language of the constitution, and we hope the court will be impressed by the technicality.

"It is always good government to save tax dollars wherever possible. We and our party have always upheld this principle. However, the county board has approved the expenditure.

"It amounts to only 20 cents or a little more per capita and, to us, to deprive one of the largest and wealthiest counties in Illinois of the representation which it is entitled in Springfield would surely be false economy.

"We cannot afford not to be represented in the Illinois State Senate. Such reasoning logically would conclude that we

Area Barber Shops to Close Early Wednesday

Quad-City area barbers who are members of Barbers Local 483 will close their shops at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, the day before the Thanksgiving holiday, Carl Buehler, union secretary, announced today.

Buehler said closing of barber shops an hour earlier than the regular 5:30 p.m. daily closing is customary on Saturdays and holidays.

"Our newly elected senator would not take his seat until May, but traditionally most of the important legislative decisions are made in May and June.

"Further, the present legislature has kept alive and held sessions during its entire 24 months' existence, and will again, so our new senator should serve us for 20 months out of 24.

"We Republicans expect no advantage from this position. An extra Republican is not necessary to control, since we already have 38 Republican Senators to 19 Democrats.

"Further, on average, it would appear likely that a Democrat might win this special election. However, we the people feel we are entitled to our constitutional and legal representation, and we want a senator in Springfield working for us."

"We cannot afford not to be represented in the Illinois State Senate. Such reasoning logically would conclude that we

GC Steel Honored By SIMAPC Award For Area Progress

Granite City Steel Co. was the recipient of one of nine special awards presented Thursday night by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission in recognition of outstanding progress and services by area industrial and business and financial firms.

The awards were presented by Lt. Gov.-Elect Paul Simon of Troy during SIMAPC's annual special awards dinner held at the Fischer's restaurant, Belleville.

SIMAPC commissioner also elected new officers for the 1969 year, including Henry Karandjeff, board chairman of the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, as vice-president.

Barney Metz, mayor of Dupu, was elected SIMAPC president to succeed Alton May of Alton.

As vice-president, Karandjeff succeeded Metz.

Re-elected officers were Roy Ripmeyer of Valleyview and Treasurer Edward Hilzweg of Collinsville. Five members of the executive committee were re-elected. May became a member of the committee as past president and one new member was elected.

Executive committee members re-elected included Harry Briggs, Nameoki township; Carl Calvert, Belleville; Charles Chenoweth, Belleville; Wetzel Harneth, Washington Park, and Edwin Leamon, Alton.

Also elected was Jack Norman of Columbia.

Awards were presented in seven categories. Carl Calvert was the first of these separate individual awards made.

The award to Granite City Steel Co. was made in the fourth category for accomplishments in industrial redevelopment, and was based on the company's $140-million expansion program of the past several years in which it changed its steelmaking processes from open-hearth furnaces to basic oxygen furnaces.

Hilzweg Accepts Awards

John R. Hundley, vice-president-industrial relations, accepted the award from Simon on behalf of the company.

Three awards were made in the first category for outstanding individual accomplishments. They were to Elmer W. Taylor, manager of the Alton Public Housing agency; Circuit Court Magistrate George Sansone of the 23rd circuit in Monroe county; and Arthur P. Wink, president of the Monroe County National Bank.

In the second category for outstanding accomplishment in community development, the award went to Adams Development Co. of Godfrey, with the award accepted by Homer Adams.

For accomplishment in the field of commercial development or redevelopment, the award was presented to the Southwestern Civic Memorial Airport Association for Bi-State Parks Airport. The award was accepted by James Reed, executive secretary of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the airport association.

Project Award

The award for Community Service was presented to Lebanon (Ill.) Beautification Committee, accepted by John Pepper, committee chairman. That for project development by a community was awarded the Columbia Chamber of Commerce, with the award accepted by Harvey Buttner, president.

Mayor Erwin Flegge of Bethalto was presented the award for individual accomplishment by an elected or appointive public official.

May served as master of ceremonies during the program in which Simon made brief remarks on the history of area development and the part SIMAPC plays in planning for future development. Simon sponsored legislation under which SIMAPC was established in 1963.

The next regular quarterly commission meeting will be held on March 20.

Miss Ginger Marie Briggs, James Daniel Little Wed

The wedding of Miss Ginger Marie Briggs, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Briggs, 3207 Erin drive, and James Daniel Little, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ned Little, 1612 Garfield avenue, took place Saturday afternoon at the Nameoki Methodist Church. The Rev. William Foster officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony. The double-ring service was used.

Miss Janet Young presided at the organ, and Miss Colleen Robertson sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mr. Briggs gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white peau de sole with an Italian lace bodice encrusted with pearls. Long sleeves tapered to the wrists and the skirt ended in a train.

A crown of seed pearls held in place the bride's veil of silk illusion and she carried a nosegay of white roses, carnations and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Monte Kessler, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Benny Johanneper served as bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in cinnamon velvet gowns with fitted bodices trimmed with off-white lace. The bell sleeves were also trimmed with the lace and the skirts were floor-length.

Their headpieces were velvet bows and they held bouquets of yellow, orange and rust daisies and pom poms. A little flower girl, Debbie Drenkhahn, a niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. Wearing a long emerald green velvet dress with trimming of off-white lace, and a band of flowers in her hair, she carried a basket of rose petals. Monte Kessler Jr. was ring bearer.

Let's roll up our sleeves

To the Employees of Granite City Steel Company and the People of the Tri-Cities

November 25, 1968

"We are moving as fast as possible to restore normal operations and a normal payroll now that the strike at our blast furnace department has ended.

Members of International Chemical Workers Local Union 50 voted Friday to accept the basic steel industry package of wage and benefit increases. The first employees to be called back reported for the Saturday morning "turn" only a few hours after the votes were counted.

We hope the blowing in of "B" blast furnace will be completed in about one week. We can then proceed to start up the basic oxygen steelmaking furnaces, the blooming mill and some related facilities which have been shut down.

Our employees, business in the Tri-Cities and the Granite City Steel Company all suffered a tremendous loss of money since the strike began October 1. However, all this is behind us. Our important task now is to get the entire plant back in shape and working productively so we can compete on even terms with other steel companies . . . and, thereby, sell enough steel to maintain a good level of operations.

We wish to thank the community leaders who encouraged negotiators for the Company and Union to continue meeting until a settlement was reached. While their efforts were not immediately successful, they were certainly beneficial.

Lyle F. Gulley
President
Granite City Steel Company

DON'T LET 'WINTER KILL' KILL THE BEAUTY OF YOUR HOME

You have a big investment in the landscaping around your home. "Winter Kill" can rob you of it. Your lawn, evergreens, and shrubs, especially newly planted ones, are particularly vulnerable to this condition, which is caused by failure to apply plenty of moisture to the soil before the freezing weather sets in. It is most important to thoroughly soak the soil and apply a mulch under the evergreen trees, shrubs, and other perennials. Now's the time to do it! You'll be glad you did.

In Memoriam 30

In loving memory of my darling daughter MRS. BETTY BOHENSTIEHL and wonderful husband ARNEL CONNER who were called away from me November 17, 1969 and November 27, 1967. True to God's unquestionable word. He came as a thief in the night and proclaimed the ones that made my life worth living. While I pray for courage to cling to the fact That my heartbreaking disappointments Were truly God's great appointments. I continue to reminiscence, and as the beautiful memories unfurl, I know through all the heart-break and tears, I would not exchange places with anyone in the whole wide world. Loved and remembered always by Mom and wife, Marie Connor and family. 33-11-25
